Weather Discussion:

Mostly fair conditions and brief sporadic showers will continue for the remainder of Saturday. There is a high chance of scattered light to moderate showers from Sunday into the new week as a shear line dominates the weather pattern across the island chain.

Moderate east north easterly trades at 15km/h to 25km/h are expected, backing to north east on occasion. Easterly trades can be expected on Tuesday, as a ridge pattern rebuilds across the islands. Seas will be slight to moderate in open waters with northerly swells ranging between 1.0m-2.0m. Thin film of haze possible on Monday into Tuesday.
