Weather Discussion:

The chance of showers decreases for the remainder of Saturday. Low level moisture is expected to fluctuate during the next few days, while mid to upper levels remain relatively dry. As a result, fair conditions alternating with cloudy periods and brief light to moderate isolated showers are forecast. High chance that these showers will take place during the early morning periods/late nights.

Winds will blow generally from the east north east (ENE) at 20km/h to 40km/h, allowing for breezy conditions. Seas are forecast to be moderate, possibly rough, in open waters with swells ranging between 1.5m - 2.0m on the western coasts and 2.5m - 3.0m on the eastern coasts. Small craft operators and sea bathers should exercise caution for above normal swells. No significant haze intrusion is forecast.
