Weather Discussion:

Partly cloudy to occasionally cloudy skies with a low chance of showers are forecast from Friday into Sunday, with the chance increasing as Sunday progresses into Monday as a tropical wave moves closer to the island chain.

Moderate E-ESE breeze (15km/h-30km/h) will move across the island chain, becoming east north east (ENE) around Sunday night. Seas will remain slight to moderate in open waters with swells ranging between 1.0m – 2.0m. Moderate haze intrusion will gradually thin out into the new week.
