Weather Discussion:

The chance of shower activity increases as the week progresses. Mostly fair conditions will continue for Tuesday, with cloud cover gradually increasing along Wednesday. By Wednesday evening/night, scattered moderate showers are expected into Thursday. The chance of thunderstorm activity also increases from Wednesday night towards the end of the week as a tropical wave interacts with an upper level trough.

Gentle to moderate breeze (10km/h-20km/h) will move over SVG, blowing predominantly from the east (E) and backing to east-north east (ENE) on occasion. Seas are forecast to be slight to moderate with swells ranging between 0.5m- 1.5m. No significant haze intrusion.
