Weather Discussion:

Although a few passing showers are likely across SVG along Thursday and early Friday, the general weather pattern into the weekend calls for relatively fair conditions as the Atlantic high pressure system exerts its dominance in the upcoming days.

Gentle to moderate (15-25km/h) north easterly trades are crossing the islands and could increase (near 30km/h) on occasions late Friday and late Saturday. Seas are expected to remain slight to moderate in open water. In addition, slight concentrations of Saharan dust haze will be visible throughout this forecast period.
