Weather Discussion:

Weak unstable conditions maintained moderate showers and isolated thunderstorms across our islands during last night and early this (Thursday) morning. Meanwhile, a patch of Saharan dust gradually reduced visibility and air quality across our area...Take the necessary precautions...Saharan dust concentrations are likely to thin out by late Friday. Periods of light rain could increase overnight Saturday, with unstable conditions enhancing showers and thunderstorm activity across St. Vincent and the Grenadines during Sunday.

Moderate-occasionally fresh (20 - 30km/h) breeze across SVG could vary in direction between north-easterly and east south-easterly in some locations.

Slight-moderate sea conditions in open water, near 1.0m(3ft) west of our islands and range 1.5m(5ft) to 1.8m(6ft) east of our islands.
