PRESS RELEASE

INSPECTOR OF POLICE CORLENE SAMUEL GRADUATES WITH MASTER OF SCIENCE IN FORENSIC PSYCHOLOGY, WITH PERFECT 4.00 GPA

October 20, 2025 – Kingstown: When dedication meets purpose, remarkable things happen. The Royal St. Vincent and the Grenadines Police Force (RSVGPF) proudly celebrates Inspector of Police Ms. Corlene Samuel, who has earned a Master of Science in Forensic Psychology from Monroe University, graduating Summa Cum Laude with a perfect 4.00 GPA. The degree was conferred on April 17, 2025, and the graduation ceremony was held on October 19, 2025.

Inspector Samuel, a seasoned Police Prosecutor, pursued this academic milestone online while balancing the demanding responsibilities of law enforcement and personal challenges. Her achievement stands as a testament to the resilience, discipline, and excellence that define the men and women of the RSVGPF. Reflecting on her journey, Inspector Samuel shared, "I am not what happened to me, I am what I choose to become," quoting Carl Jung. "Those words reminded me that, no matter the obstacles, I have the power to shape my future."

As one can imagine, the journey was not without trials. Inspector Samuel persevered through the rigorous demands of graduate-level study while serving full-time in the Office of the Director of Public Prosecution's (DPP) National Prosecution Service (NPS). During her studies, she also faced the heartbreaking loss of her father, Osborne "Soca" Glasgow, who was tragically murdered in 2024. In honoring his memory, she stated, "This degree is dedicated to my father, a man whose belief in me never wavered. His encouragement to pursue education and purpose continues to guide me."

Inspector Samuel expressed heartfelt gratitude to her family, friends, and colleagues for standing by her through every stage of the journey. She also conveyed appreciation to the Government of Saint Vincent and the Grenadines, the Commissioner of Police, and the Director of Public Prosecutions for their confidence and support.

She spoke warmly of the Ministry of National Mobilization and the staff of Liberty Lodge Boys Training School, where she completed her internship, describing the experience as one that brought her studies to life. Inspector Samuel also credited Corporal of Police Sean Roache for his invaluable contribution during that period, saying his support helped her gain a deeper understanding of the young men at the facility and the importance of patience and empathy in her work.

Reflecting on her time at Liberty Lodge, she said it allowed her to bridge theory with practice and strengthened her commitment to help at-risk youth and others in contact with the justice system. The experience, she added, shaped her view of justice as something that must be firm but humane, grounded in understanding as much as in law.

Inspector Samuel intends to apply her expertise in Forensic Psychology to enhance the prosecutorial process and support a justice system that recognizes both accountability and rehabilitation. Her accomplishment underscores the RSVGPF's commitment to continuous professional development, ensuring that law enforcement in Saint Vincent and the Grenadines remains modern, capable, and people-centered.

The RSVGPF extends its heartfelt congratulations to Inspector Samuel on this remarkable achievement. Her success represents not only personal triumph but also the collective strength and potential of the organization. It affirms to the citizens, residents, and visitors of Saint Vincent and the Grenadines that the RSVGPF is equipped with the knowledge, professionalism, and vision to deliver first-class policing in service to our nation.
